Value added. Value shared.

Order processing and EDI interfaces

Everything you need to know about order processing on Unite, from order transmission and invoicing to payment.

Unite makes order processing simple: Once you've successfully registered on Unite and your catalogue is live, Unite customers can view your assortment and place orders. You receive the order directly from Unite, ship the goods with the delivery note of the responsible Unite local entity to the customer, send your invoice to Unite, and receive payment within the agreed payment term. As a central point of contact for all parties involved, Unite ensures a smooth process.

EDI interfaces are also available for the automated transmission of orders, order confirmations, dispatch notifications and invoices.

On the following pages, you'll find detailed information on:

- Order transmission
- Order confirmation
- Dispatch notification
- Invoicing and payment
- EDI interfaces for order processing
- Track & Trace data
- Serial numbers